

Making care affordable

Beating cancer is hard enough. Paying for the necessary medical care shouldn't be. This is why we accept most private insurance plans, which often cover our services in whole or part. We also have financial counselors available to help you review your insurance coverage and discuss your personal payment options.

Dedicating ourselves to the future

As progress continues in the fight against cancer, we will continue to add new developments and treatments. And we'll give every patient we see more hope for a long and healthy life.

Mabry Center for Cancer Care
at the Regional Medical Center

facing cancer takes courage, perseverance and some of today's most advanced medicine. At the H. Filmore Mabry Center for Cancer Care, we combine groundbreaking chemotherapy and radiation treatments with emotional support and encouragement to give you every advantage in your fight against cancer.

In fact, since 1992, we've helped hundreds make the journey from cancer patient to cancer survivor. In doing so, we've become a source of hope for cancer patients, and their families, throughout our region.

Healing the body and soul

We use powerful oral and I.V. chemotherapy as well as highly targeted radiation therapy to selectively destroy cancer cells. Still, we understand that even the most advanced medicine can be made more effective with a human touch.

To recharge your fighting spirit and help you stay focused on healing, we offer a number of counseling services and support groups. These include our Look Good, Feel Better sessions for those undergoing treatment, our Up Front support group for breast cancer patients and our Mabry Center for Cancer Care support group for both patients and their families.

Creating a circle of care

We believe the support of family and friends is a vital part of the healing process, especially during cancer treatment. So, we deliver treatments right here in Orangeburg, where you can stay close to family and friends. We also get to know you personally and schedule your treatment around your life, making your cancer treatment just a little easier and more comfortable.

Care you can count on

Our program is fully accredited by the American College of Surgeons (ACoS) Commission on Cancer. By continuously measuring our care against that of cancer centers throughout the nation, the ACoS helps us ensure that we always provide the highest possible level of care. So, you can trust that the care you receive is always among some of the best.

Reaching out with prevention

According to the American Cancer Society, lifestyle changes and regular screenings could prevent thousands of cancer deaths every year. We promote cancer-preventing lifestyles and early detection through community screenings, health fairs and seminars. Events like these help us provide lifesaving resources to hundreds of people each year.
